

MUST SEE: America's Long War Against Humanity – Michel Chossudovsky

Source: GlobalResearchTV

In this must see video, Michel Chossudovsky details America's long war against humanity in this talk at the Rosa Luxemburg Conference in Berlin on January 11, 2014.

The event was organized by the German daily "junge Welt". This year, the Rosa Luxemburg Conference marked the commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the First World War.

Worldwide militarization is also part of a global economic agenda, namely the application of the neoliberal economic policy model which has led to the impoverishment of large sectors of the World population.

The world is at the crossroads of the most serious crisis in modern history. The US has embarked on a military adventure, "a long war", which threatens the future of humanity.

This "war without borders" is being carried out at the crossroads of the most serious economic crisis in World history, which has been conducive to the impoverishment of large sectors of the World population.

The Pentagon's global military design is one of world conquest. The military deployment of US-NATO forces is occurring in several regions of the world simultaneously.

The concept of the "Long War" has characterized US military doctrine since the end of World War II. Worldwide militarization is part of a global economic agenda.

The text presented at the conference, Imperial Conquest: America's "Long War" against Humanity, is available on Global Research: Imperial Conquest: America's "Long War" against Humanity by professor Michel Chossudovsky.