

The Experience of Being 'In the Flow': How People Achieve The State of Brain Flow

"Flow is a state of peak enjoyment that occurs when you are doing something that is difficult and you are highly skilled at," explained Richard Huskey, a University of California, Davis, assistant professor of communication and cognitive science and author of a new paper on flow. #flowstate