

Study Finds Cannabis Reverses Aging Processes in the Brain

The benefits of cannabis on the human brain are still being outlined by medical research, and in a recent study, scientists at the University of Bonn concluded that it can help reverse the aging process in the brain.