

Horoscopes Tuesday 13th June 2017

A positive connection between Mercury the planet of communication and expansive Jupiter can be an excellent influence for making plans for the future.

However, to do so skillfully it can help to look to the bigger picture and incorporate the details. For your FREE Daily Horoscope Tuesday 13th June 2017 please see below...

Horoscopes Tuesday 13th June 2017

Aries 21 March – 20 April

You may feel confident enough to go ahead with a meeting or plan, but even if it seems that everything is coming together very nicely, it might be just as well to have other options in place. The reason being that Mercury the planet of communication makes an awkward angle to Neptune which could mean that unexpected glitches can crop up when we least expect them.

Taurus 21 April – 21 May

It may be just as well to take extra care regarding your finances over coming days, as what you gain from one transaction you could lose on another unless you remain alert. In addition, with the Sun opposing Saturn across your money axis, certain expenses may be more than anticipated so doing what you can to keep spending at a minimum could give you more leeway.

Gemini 22 May – 21 June

You may have high expectations that an outing, date or perhaps a creative project will likely go well. However, a developing tie between Mercury your lead planet and Neptune in your sector of goals, can coincide with mixed messages and be a source of confusion. To make the most of coming days keep the lines of communication open so any misunderstandings can be minimized.

Cancer 22 June – 23 July

The Moon's presence in an intense sector of your chart can attune you to those deeper feelings that you may have been too busy to notice recently. And as it also links to convivial Venus in your social sector, you may gain useful insights regarding someone's intentions. Things may not be as they seem, so it would be unwise to base any decisions on what is happening now.

Leo 24 July – 23 August

Although you may be glad to take part in social events that can help you accomplish a goal or strengthen a key bond, you might need to be sparing with your time if you have important matters to attend to. But the astrological backdrop suggests considering each event on its individual merits before you take part, as someone's motives may not be as noble as you hope, Leo.

Virgo 24 August – 23 September

A talent may be in demand and this could set you thinking about how you might make better use of it. But it may be wise to keep this idea to yourself for now, as discussing it with others could result in them trying to dissuade you, especially if they don't realize how determined you are. Over coming months, this move could turn out to be a very good investment indeed, Virgo.

Libra 24 September – 23 October

The Moon in your sector of fun and leisure angles towards Venus in a more intense zone, which can be a reason to discuss an issue that may be influencing a relationship. It is possible that someone may seem a little too possessive or controlling, or at least try to be. However, a diplomatic approach and a few reassuring words might enable you to resolve this quite well.

Scorpio 24 October – 22 November

A strong belief in yourself can be a wonderful gift for overcoming obstacles and for accomplishing something of importance to you. However, with Mercury in a more sensitive sector of your chart aligning with Neptune in your sector of creativity, it is possible that you may think something is going to be easier than it is. Knowing what a project really entails will though help.

Sagittarius 23 November – 21 December

Your social life and interactions with friends can keep you busy, and happily so. But you may feel less keen when it comes to someone close who you sense may be taking advantage of you. Are they really though? Your horoscope suggests this matter escalate unless you can find out the truth. Talking things through may help, as doing so could change your perspective.

Capricorn 22 December – 20 January

A relationship may be smoother and more upbeat than it has been, and this may be down to you taking the time to connect with this person in a meaningful way. But if you are keen for things to continue on in this manner, then this bond may require constant nurturing. You'll need to decide whether this is a price worth paying and whether it is a good investment over the long-term.

Aquarius 21 January – 19 February

Although an offer may sound good, the celestial picture suggests that it may not be as perfect as it seems. With the planet of communication angling towards an ethereal influence in your financial zone, this might benefit them a lot more than it does you. Looking into the details and making further enquiries may enable you to see what is at stake and whether it is really worth it.

Pisces 20 February – 20 March

If you've been trying to fit in with others' expectations in order to keep the peace, then the coming days can see a change of heart. As the Sun in your domestic sector opposes Saturn in your zone of ambition and achievement, you may realize that even though you have the interests of family members in mind, there are some ideas and goals that may be non-negotiable.
