

Horoscopes Wednesday 8th June 2016

With Mercury opposing Mars it could be difficult to avoid a disagreement over coming days, especially if it seems justified.

However, if we let our emotions get the better of us we could put a distance between ourselves and another, which is probably best avoided. For your FREE Daily Horoscope Wednesday 8th June 2016 please see below...

Horoscopes Wednesday 8th June 2016

Aries 21 March – 20 April

According to conversations you may have had recently, achieving the results you want should be easy. Those you chat to can certainly make it appear so. However, with Saturn your planet of ambition spinning backwards, you may find this not to be the case. Even so, by experimenting with other approaches and being willing to adapt your methods, success could unfold.

Taurus 21 April – 21 May

The Leo Moon in your sector of home and family may be the reason you feel like adding a few special touches to your place, especially over coming days. This and the ongoing Sun Venus link can entice you to splash on a coat of paint or primp certain rooms to match the changing season. Such adjustments could eliminate mental cobwebs, leaving you more upbeat too.

Gemini 22 May – 21 June

While you may be caught up in a busy social schedule, the bigger picture encourages you to give some thought to a key relationship that may need careful nurturing. There's a chance that your connection with this person requires patience, especially if they are going through a difficult patch. However, even short but caring exchanges may be deeply appreciated by them.

Cancer 22 June – 23 July

Due to the present picture it may seem as though you aren't delivering on your promises. However, bearing in mind the array of awkward aspects, the opposite may be true – that you have too many expectations of yourself. With Mars and Saturn continuing in their rewind phase delays may be inevitable, and factoring this into your schedule might help you rest a little easier.

Leo 24 July – 23 August

The ability to talk to others and to find that you're on the same wavelength may open doors for you over coming weeks. In fact, your social scene could be a source of enjoyment that helps mitigate potential snares in other areas. Even so, when it comes to any challenges you may be experiencing, perhaps they're best viewed as stepping stones to bigger opportunities.

Virgo 24 August – 23 September

While Mercury's presence in your sector of learning hints at fresh discoveries, Mars in opposition and spinning backwards could act as a brake to any such thoughts. However, if you have a desire to explore new territory then it may be possible if you take things in stages. Indeed, sampling new opportunities can help you decide whether they're really for you – or not.

Libra 24 September – 23 October

As the Sun and Venus continue their pairing, this synergistic blend could bring news from a faraway friend or relative wishing to make contact. You may also feel like reconnecting with someone from a class you attended. Indeed, relationships forged in an atmosphere of discovery can surface again and could be instrumental in introducing you to new people and places.

Scorpio 24 October – 22 November

The developing Mercury Mars connection could coincide with an issue that has been on your mind lately and that you're keen to resolve. Nevertheless, if it has caused a degree of angst, then you might find a heart-to-heart can set matters to rights. By taking the initiative you could more easily find out where the problem lies, or perhaps discover there was never one at all.

Sagittarius 23 November – 21 December

Although it can be easier to get along with others now and over coming days, the presence of Mars in a secluded sector of your chart suggests you may feel a little irritated by a certain incident. However, your horoscope suggests you might be reading too much into this situation and that whatever transpired, and if you're keen to keep things productive, try to be philosophical.

Capricorn 22 December – 20 January

The current alignment hints at a desire to help out someone in your social group, especially if they appear to be caught up in an intense situation. However, getting involved may not be good for either of you. Bearing this in mind, consider standing back and letting them find out for themselves, as harsh though this may seem, it could be the only way they can learn.

Aquarius 21 January – 19 February

The opportunity to showcase your creative talents is currently to the fore, and whether this involves artistic finesse, sporting ability or perhaps people skills, you may find that what you have to offer is very much appreciated. In addition, there are romantic options showing which could encourage a budding liaison to blossom or a long-term bond to sparkle more.

Pisces 20 February – 20 March

The Moon's presence in your wellness sector over coming days may see you gravitating towards activities that enhance the feel good factor. However, with the Sun, your health planet, syncing with Venus you might also be tempted to indulge in home-baked treats. When it comes down to it, you may need to choose between comfort foods or staying with a strict diet plan.
