

Why I Love Being a Reconnective Healer (and the Incredible Story of How I Became One)

By Ross Pittman, CLN Founder and Editor

My Journey to Becoming a Reconnective Healer

Most of my life I was in my left brain. I worked as a computer software engineer and manager for over 30 years – primarily in the aerospace industry. For the most part, my world was pretty dull and predictable.

Everything changed for me a little over 10 years ago when I saw the film “What the Bleep Do We Know!?” This movie opened me up to new spiritual possibilities. I became fascinated by the idea that our consciousness creates reality, and started reading books like “The Field” and “The Intention Experiment” by Lynne McTaggart, “The Self-Aware Universe” by Amit Goswami, and “The Holographic Universe” by Michael Talbot. I learned about the quantum principles of non-locality and entanglement, and my personal universe literally expanded.

In October 2011, I attended Conscious Life Expo in Los Angeles, and was somehow drawn to attend a lecture by medium and Reiki Healer Gail Thackray (who I didn’t know at the time) about her experiences with the healer known as John of God in Brazil.

After Gail finished her talk, she invited people to come up for a hug. I got in line and waited my turn. When I reached her, Gail embraced me and said: “You will be involved in healing many people.”

I was totally taken by surprise. All I could muster was a bewildered, “Really?” To which Gail replied, “Yes. Big time!” and then proceeded to hug the next person in line.

The next day, I tracked Gail down to get more details, but she was unable to tell me what the message meant because she said that it had come from spirit, not from her.

Over the next two weeks, I received multiple hints from the universe that I should attend the Reconnective Healing training that was coming up in Century City. The final capper was when my girlfriend received her first email from a meetup group she had just joined. They were hosting a free lecture by Dr. Eric Pearl, the creator of Reconnective Healing, only a few blocks from my home. I knew I had to attend.

At the lecture, I was blown away by Dr. Pearl’s fascinating story of how Reconnective Healing came to be. And, I was amazed by the healings he described. What appealed to me the most about Reconnective Healing was that it didn’t require any diagnosis. In fact, the practitioner doesn’t even need to know why the client is seeking healing. A Reconnective Healer simply allows the intelligence of the universe to restore balance and heal whatever the client needs, whether it’s physical, emotional, or spiritual. He or she is merely a catalyst for the healing to take place.

After the lecture, I signed up for training on both Reconnective Healing (Level I/II) and The Reconnection (Level III), which I completed in November 2011.

My Reconnective Healing Work

After the training, I was nervous about doing the work because I wasn’t very confident that it would actually benefit anyone. So, I began by working with only family and friends. To my astonishment, the healings worked! From Bell’s Palsy to high blood pressure and different sorts of pain, everyone improved and experienced some form of relief.

My confidence grew slowly, and in October 2013, I decided to take my healing practice to the next level by working remotely with clients I didn't know (using only a photo). I facilitated healings for several dozen people at no charge in exchange for their feedback. The responses were remarkable. You can see some of the feedback on my Testimonials page.

I think my favorite testimonial was from a woman named Adell, who emailed me a week after our session:

“Ross, I would like to thank you again for the healing session. As I mentioned to you immediately after the session the sensation I felt was one of peace. This may not seem very significant to you, however for me it was. 2013 has been a year of great loss for me; in April I lost my beloved older sister to pancreatic cancer, in May my youngest daughter to a staph infection. Many days I have not wanted to leave my home, I didn't trust myself emotionally and feared a breakdown at an inopportune time. While I am sure I'm still deep into the grieving process it is my intention to see and feel the world through the lens of love. In the week after the session I felt lighter and more buoyant, I am committed to feeling the pain of this deep loss and transmuting it to gratitude for the honor of knowing these 2 souls in this life time. I am returning to work next week with a feeling of excitement instead of fear and dread. Thank you again for sharing your gifts.”

Although I had terrific results, I stopped doing the free healings because I became super busy with my full-time job plus running Conscious Life News. But now I am retired and living in Sedona with my beloved Vicki Howie. So, I have a lot more free time on my hands.

Recently, I exchanged healing sessions with a young woman from the Netherlands, who was visiting Sedona. She loved the healing she received and compared me very favorably to a man in her home country who does Reconnective Healing full time. She encouraged me to do the work. And, so that's what I am going to do.

What I love the most about Reconnective healing is the personal connection with others and hearing from them that they feel better after a session with me. And, I love feeling an energetic connection with them. During a session, I feel the connection very strongly in my hands and sometimes in my entire body. It's such an awesome feeling. Thank you Dr. Pearl.

I interviewed Eric Pearl at the Conscious Life Expo in February 2013. Watch this revealing interview to learn what Reconnective Healing is, why it works, how it lifts the vibration of the planet, whether healing is diminished when done from a distance, and much more:

Finally, I was interviewed by CLN's Alexis Brooks about Reconnective Healing in October, 2013, which you can listen to HERE.
