

Morning Inspiration: Attempting to Leave Your Mark (Motivational Video)

Source: Mulligan Brothers MOTIVATION

We get one life and we start each moment with another perspective. Try to remember that we have a vast potential to live out our dreams during the course of life. It's up to you to leave your mark on the world during that time.

"I don't care who you are, what race, what age, what gender, I don't care about any of that stuff. But what I do know is that you have a dream inside of you and that dream you've kept hidden from the world, you've made excuses for it. You've delayed it. You've listened to people telling you to be realistic, but deep down in your heart you know that you're not living to your potential. And life is now something you're just getting old with."
