Entrepreneurship and life in general can be a difficult task. There will be many times when we feel we need to give up on a task or goal but Elon Musk and Space X proves there's value in trying your hardest until you succeed.

“And actually we had money for three launches. That was the original plan, that after three if we hadn't succeeded that's it. We managed to travel and put together the parts for one final launch and it worked.” Elon Musk
