David Icke: We need to love this world into a state of love. There is no other way of doing it. And, what is love? ... It's the ultimate power!

TRANSCRIPT (David Icke speaking):

We need to love this world into a state of love. There is no other way of doing it. And, what is love? People think love is weak. It's NOT weak – it's the ultimate power! It will not walk backwards in the face of anything that it believes is right.

Love is not always about lovey-dovey stuff. Love is also about putting yourself on the line, speaking your truth, standing up against oppression, standing up against all the shit that comes your way – because you believe that what you are doing is right – and serving the greater good. That's also love, even though you might lose your temper here and there.

The reason you're doing it is because of LOVE, BECAUSE YOU WANT THIS WORLD SO BADLY TO BE WHAT IT CAN BE!

I'llll freakin' get there with you. I'll get there freakin' with you. I'm not going until this change, this transformation is over. I've invested too much of my life in this.
