

Rainbow, Crystal and Indigo Children

At this point I'm sure you've at least heard of the indigo children, and probably the crystal and rainbow children as well. You may have read about these children coming in with "new spiritual technologies" to support Humanity and Mother Earth in transcending density to ascend into higher levels of light and love.

You've probably taken a few quizzes, or at the very least read through a list of qualities, patterns of behavior, and characteristics of these children (and adults) of the new energy to determine if you or your children fit the mold.

You may already know that indigo children are often strong willed, highly sensitive and intuitive with an innate truth detector and with little patience for bureaucracy or respect for authority which is undeserved. You may have learned that crystal kids are typically quite empathic, telepathic, quiet yet profound spiritual teachers with a deep connection to nature and the spiritual realms. Or that rainbow children come in with no karma, are peaceful, spiritually gifted from a young age and are excited to talk, and share what they know about spirit with love and joy.

The truth is, that these labels are not entirely incorrect. As humans, it's natural for us to want to categorize, label, and classify things in the physical to make sense of them. This is exactly what has happened with the groups of children being born in the new energy. They're classified according to common patterns of behavior in order to make sense of the differences between many kids of the new generation when compared to kids in the past.

The “new kids”, who are otherwise known as star kids, rainbow, crystal, or indigo’s, are souls who due to the continually rising vibration of the earth and humanity are able to come into the physical realm maintaining a higher vibration. The crystal, rainbow and indigo children (and adults) are able to embody more of the authentic truth of their authentic spiritual, divine, and multidimensional self, and are here on the planet with a strong purpose.
