

The Subtle Art of Offending People

We live in a world filled with thin-skinned status quo junkies walking on eggshells. Everyone is afraid of offending and being offended. Create art that moves people, that shakes things up, that stretches comfort zones, and transforms boundaries into horizons. Create art that offends, that disturbs the comfortable, and comforts the disturbed.
#communication