

Mercury Moves into Cancer – Covid update...

Cancer, the planet which influences communication, travel, commerce, and technology moves into Cancer on 28th May at 7.10pm UCT where it will reside until the 4th August. So for over 10 weeks it transits one of its least positive locations. Why? Well, the logic of Mercury is diluted by the watery emotion of Cancer. This can lead to subjective decision making and confusion.

Initially with social distancing being eased, many families will happily meet, but it goes into Shadow from the 2nd of June and a Retrograde from 18th of June. This continues to July 12th before emerging from Shadow on 26th July.

There are big planetary clashes along the way not least it is in a tense Quincunx with strict Saturn at the outset, which can create a conflict between responding in a more emotional way to our needs, rather than with cool detachment.
