

2020 Race Shows the More Women Run, the More They're Treated Like Candidates—Not 'Tokens'

In observing the 2020 Democratic presidential primary—which has featured as many six women. It seems possible that this time might be different. Not because sexism has left the building, but because the critical mass of women candidates may have changed the dynamic. #womeninpolitics