

What Happens When You Love and Pray Like This

In the presence of unlimited love, victim and victor vanish. Oppressor and oppressed cease. Troubler and troubled dissipate. Divided and divisor are equal. Truth remains as the great equalizer.

It generates common ground that is fearless and powerless. Powerless? Because as power and fear are relinquished what remains is purity, essence, vitality, wholeness, right relationship, and restoration. This restoration welcomes and recognizes an inner guidance that never fails, no matter what the physical circumstance.

Then...A beauty walker emerges that truly loves and sees beyond the trouble perceived. This is you beautiful soul! This is available and waiting for you to acknowledge and live it.

When you pray... dear God inside

Then...Darkness cannot exist when love rules.

Hatred cannot be there when joy rules.

Sorrow cannot exist when laughter is the king.

Worship the joy that you feel!

As Kryon says, The melded human being is super intuitive they just know! What they should do, where they should go, what they should do.

My friend, choose this way of life. It is fully available to you. Live in the presence of unlimited love and pray...dear God inside.

Much love to you, Julia

By the way, this does not mean we will be perfect, we are still homo-sapiens; not fully evolved. So give yourself a break and realize you can be joyful in spite of your stupidity at times!

P.S., turn off the news ☐ and tune into the reality that you create.
